
An example DocBook article

Hassan Siddiqui

1. Introduction

This is an example document for the purposes of illustrating docbook writing and HTML and PDF generation.

Feel free to use this as a template for you own document.

2. Basic Text Stuff

This is a paragraph.

This is how to emphasise text.

This is an example of a link to something on the web. This link is in fact to Rik Huygen's docbook tutorial.

Here's an example of a cross-reference to another part of this document. See Section 1, "Introduction".

3. Lists

This is an itemized list:

- Alpha
- Beta
- Gamma

This is an ordered list:

1. Apples
2. Bananas
3. Pears

This is an example of a variable list

Apple A kind of fruit.

Elephant A thick skinned mammal indigenous to Africa and India.

4. Quotes and Notes

This is an example of a block quote:

Herschel, short for the `Herschel Space Observatory', is the fourth `cornerstone' mission in the ESA science programme. It will perform photometry and spectroscopy in approximately the 57-670 μm range. It will have a radiatively cooled 3.5m diameter telescope, and a science payload complement of three instruments housed inside a superfluid helium cryostat.

This is how an important note:

Important note

This is an important note

5. Images

Here's an example of embedding an image:

This is the Herschel Poster.